TOPIC: BAKER V. ARGONAUT REVERSED

On June 20, 2002 the Supreme Court reversed the Court of Appeals decision in Baker v. Argonaut

The Court of appeals had denied an insurance carrier's right of subrogation for the amount of the policy represented by the self-insured deductible. The Supreme Court has now reversed the Court of Appeals reinstating the carrier's right to recover carrier's full subrogation interest from a claimant's third-party recovery.

The court wrote:
